8 Common Foot Injuries

Tarsal coalition Tarsal coalition is a congenital condition, meaning that it is present at birth. If you need a second opinion and require a complex revision surgery, such as a total ankle replacement or vascularized bone grafting, we use the most advanced technology to restore maximum function, minimize pain and ensure the quickest possible recovery. This is because pain and swelling limits joint flexibility.

Foot and Ankle Trauma

The length of the recovery period will vary, depending on the procedure or procedures performed. We share tips on how to treat these frequent injuries at-home and when to seek professional care. Excess body mass can decrease blood circulation, causing fluid to build up in the feet, legs, and ankles.
