book, the Bee-Hive, in the form of a poem in this case, the poem is in English.

Pastorius, Francis Daniel 1651

In 1685 also came Heivert Papen, and on the 20th of March, 1686, Johannes Kassel, a weaver, and another Quaker convert from the Mennonites, from Krisheim, aged forty-seven years, with his children, Arnold, Peter, Elizabeth, Mary, and Sarah, both having purchased land from individual members of the Frankfort Company. The statue selected to represent in the capitol at Washington the military reputation of Pennsylvania is that of a German. His writings included the first protest against slavery written in the United States 1688, a Detailed Geographical Description of Pennsylvania 1700, the Young Country-Clerks Collection of legal document templates and examples, an English language primer, letters, poetry, religious documents, guides on farming and beekeeping, and tracts on various subjects.

They say, That the root of Anti-christianity, that is to say, the Denial of Jesus in the flesh, is to be found among the Quakers. On the 18th day of April, 1688, Gerhard Hendricks, Dirck Op den Graeff, Francis Daniel Pastorius, and Abraham Op den Graeff sent to the Friends meeting the first public protest ever made on this continent against the holding of slaves. On the contrary, their own historians, Mehring, Van Braght, Schynn, Maatschoen, and Roosen, trace their theological and lineal descent from the Waldenses, some of whose communities are said to have existed from the earliest Christian times, and who were able to maintain themselves in obscure parts of Europe, against the power of Rome, in large numbers from the 12th century downward.

A reward of 100 gold guilders was offered for Menno, malefactors were promised pardon if they should capture him, Tjaert Ryndertz was put on the wheel in 1539 for having given him shelter, and a house in which his wife and children had rested, unknown to its owner, was confiscated. He studied both law and theology, and having married Magdalena, daughter of Stephen Dietz and of Margaretha Fischer, and having been converted to the protestant faith, he settled at Windsheim, where he held several offices, and finally became elder burgomaster and judge. John Dee the sorcerer father of rosecrutianism from England was known to have a magical golden book.
