Letters on Frequent Communion

I've slept soundly there the last forty years, and I think I could sleep again! It works by love; it makes use of this affection to carry out all its services to God with thankfulness. This was treating the things prescribed to be observed as something sovereignly and arbitrarily appointed by Christ; which indeed they were. At Nonne, though it yielded on conditions of safeguard, the most horrid spectacles were exhibited.

Foxe's Book of Martyrs

This is the continuous possession of the Spirit as a new life.

He drew us to the glorious open Heart of Jesus in the celebration of the holy Mass and in eucharistic adoration. Finally, when her husband died, she sought the highest perfection; filled with tears, she implored me to let her beg for from door to door. True it is, I saw that they stood much in need of one to labour among them, and that a wide field of usefulness was opened up; that the old needed much to be strengthened and encouraged in their declining years with the consolations of the gospel, and that the vast number of young persons who were growing up without the means of grace stood much in need of instruction in things belonging to the glory of God and the good of their own souls: notwithstanding all these and many other things which could be mentioned, I had no clearness to remain among them.

The Partakers of the Lord's Supper

By the grace of Holy Orders, bishops act in the person of Christ, the Good Shepherd, sharing in His own life and ministry. Jesus--not an abstract doctrine, but the historical, living God-man.

The Lord's Supper — Reformed Presbyterian Church (Covenanted)

The first aim of love is to make its gift intelligible to all, useful to all, a common possession, a common good, and a common joy. Men and women have often seen their beloved ones so changed and disfigured by disease, or so mangled and misshapen by accident, that they have had to identify them in defiance of all the evidences of the senses.

1 Corinthians 12

Argument, also, from man's more immediate relation to God, and the woman's to man. Callistus, where Cecilia was buried. In honoring today the memory of Saints Timothy and Titus, we celebrate the grace of the apostolic office, handed down faithfully, from that first generation in the life of the Church, to our time and place.

The life brought in by Christ is co-extensive with the death brought in by Adam. Can such be supposed to be included in his will? The consequence is not dissembled. It has no value at all in God's sight; nay, unconverted labour has been rated by the Master at the minus figure of His complete disallowing and disapproval.
