Hadith

Abu Sa'id pointed towards his eyes and his ears with his fingers and said: My eyes saw, and my ears listened to Allah's Messenger may peace be upon him saying: Do not sell gold for gold, and do not sell silver for silver except in case of like for like, and do not increase something of it upon something, and do not sell for ready money something, not present, but hand to hand. In Imami Shi'ism hadith criticism was less sophisticated and appeared late because the isnads consisted in large part of the infallible imams. One cannot sell a thing which is not in one's possession.
