Leading an African Renaissance

Specific support from ADEA and AfDB ADEA, through its external arms in governments and its working groups, must embark on new approaches that will focus on better education and better matching of supply and demand for skilled workers to address youth unemployment. It laid a strong basis for the crystallization of a Third World coalition in the United Nations, which in 1964 constituted the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development UNCTAD.

African Leadership Process in the Development of Globalisation

Implementing Agenda 2063 begins with a ten-year implementation plan, which lays out in an incremental manner the concrete steps and milestones to be achieved in the journey towards 2063 to fulfill the African Union vision. A complete description of the style, including its antecedents and outcomes, was established from exploratory and empirical studies.

Servant Leadership: A Solution to Leadership Challenges in Africa

Indeed, most African Presidents enjoyed perpetual re-election without any rivalry or contention.

A Model of Virtuous Leadership in Africa: Case Study of a Nigerian Firm

Yet, the tension of prizing communal and friendly relationships over individual happiness in the case of misconduct remains a challenge for the African ethics of communitarianism. Essentially it will and must mean that we must take into account our realities country by country and continent by continent. Also, African solutions to African problems is a recognition of the fact that African societies are different—their colonial history is unique, its societies heterogeneous, and its challenges daunting.
