The universality of original sin and the consequent partial deterioration of human nature find their efficacious remedy in the universal distribution of grace. The system thus inaugurated met a great and real need, and under it excellent work has been done on the lines laid down by the Department at Whitehall; for, receiving State aid, the training colleges and all the schools, like other similar denominational institutions on the same footing, are inspected and in a measure controlled by the national educational authority. Isaac Harding filled the position for a little while after Mr.
