Martha, Josie and the Chinese Elvis at Park Theatre

There were moments of spontaneous applause during the action and a standing ovation at the end. This is a really enjoyable brilliantly delivered, laugh out loud play. Tired of looking after daydreaming daughter Brenda-Marie.

Review

Although I can't entirely blame them, considering that the fun stuff is so fun it often drowns out the actors with belly laughs. Additionally, it seems rushed with complex issues trivialised. This show will certainly put you in the mood for the oncoming season of snow and heartwarming.

Review: 'Martha, Josie And The Chinese Elvis' At Park Theatre

The beverage all the characters pour down their throats is aptly called the Catastrophe. Librarian Note: There is more than one author by this name in the Goodreads database.

Plays 1: Airswimming / In Flame / Martha / Josie and the Chinese Elvis / Humble Boy by Charlotte Jones

Lucy Tregear's sympathetic Nurse and Helen Anker's Capulet together with Vinta Morgan's Friar Laurence bring gravitas to the smaller At the heart of this hybrid between theatre and film is the visit of Diana, Princess of Wales to an AIDS ward in 1987.

Plays 1: Airswimming / In Flame / Martha / Josie and the Chinese Elvis / Humble Boy by Charlotte Jones

This is definitely an outstanding performance of a role which can be difficult to pull off. Much of the humor is what one expects from a contemporary British comedy, because there is not a lot of action, but the audience enjoys watching the characters fumble around the stage mocking each other.
