Enjoining good and forbidding wrong

Az eddigiekből is következik, hogy a síták egy közösség, egy olyan, nem-síta világban, ahol a sötétség és a gonosz fölénybe került, ezért szükséges az állandó elővigyázatosság Kohlberg, 1995: 369.

Jurisprudence (fiqh)

Giving in Exchange, however, means that one receives something in return for one's gift. The opinions of the Murji'ah were to the benefit of the rulers, and tended to cause the people to regard their wickedness and indecencies as unimportant, or to consider them, despite their destructive character, as men worthy of paradise. Tadbir is that the owner stipulates in his will that after his death his slave is free.
