A final resting place for illustrious figures, including singer Farid al-Atrash and writer Ihsan Abdel Kouddous as well as ordinary Egyptians, the Islamic necropolis founded in the seventh century stretches over 6.

Living with heritage in Cairo : area conservation in the Arab

All serve to demonstrate the wealth of Cairo not only as a historic capital of the Islamic World, but as a marvel of the human urban experience throughout its history. Finished in 1363, this mosque was raised by the Mamluk Sultan Hassan and lying below the citadel and next to the much more recent Rifai mosque, it's maybe the primary example of the Islamic mamluk dynasty.

Old Cairo

This photo is of the inside of the mosque which rivals any of the great cathedrals of Europe. While at El Arafah, Hadi met the Abdel-Lateefs, led by the family's patriarch, seen here, who moved to the necropolis in 1966.
