Magic Versus Science

Technology wins, partially because most of Ryu's weapons weren't plasma-proof. Once took over, though, the comic fell squarely into Magic is an EMP, able to trump any form of technology, no matter how advanced.

Magic is Everywhere if you Don't Understand Science

They both proved durable enough that most of their various weapons and abilities proved unable to fatally harm the other, but Magic ultimately wins out by virtue of Spyro's being powerful enough to annihilate Crash to which Crash had no technological counter. Most of these are simple and don't require anything special. Though they don't always agree, they eventually come to respect the other's efforts and their squabbles are muted in the latter half of the series.

Science versus Magic

This trick relies on the phenomenon known as regelation, which allows the wire to cut the ice and refreezes the ice cube behind it. With this trick, the colors swirl around each other as if by magic.
