Old House Journal Magazine 7 issues 1986 1987 Restoration Maintenance Techniques

Our articles highlight historic preservation, adaptive re-use and new traditional design for commercial, institutional and government buildings — as well as civic spaces and landscapes. Peter Zimmerman Architects designs a rustic log home in Jackson, Wyoming.

Old

There were other very human touches that lent character.

The Magazines

Built in 1777, it served as a family home for a century and a half, but was eventually acquired by a local church parish, which used it as a religious school for decades.

The bed and side tables are by Gustav Stickley. The same bricks were used for the doorsteps and copings outside, unifying the interior and exterior.

Traditional Building: The Magazine

The 1903 house in Memphis, Tennessee, is a boldly detailed example of the Midwest Prairie School genre on the familiar foursquare type.
