Job Outlook for Teachers through 2021

How do we encourage all teachers to embrace this practice to benefit their teaching and the learning of their students? Along with individual feedback written or verbal, teachers need to provide whole-group feedback on patterns they see in the collective class' growth and areas of need. Teachers are using Guitar Hero, high-tech scavenger hunt, etc. We should hope this to be the case for schools as well.

A Model for the Future of Education

Adapting to change is critical for success, especially in our constantly changing world today. Students are collaborating with each other through social media to, to test out ideas and theories, to learn facts, and to gauge each others' opinions. Students also need to be given opportunities to provide feedback to the teacher so that she can adjust the learning process, materials, and instruction accordingly.
