Race (2016)

The Census Bureau is undertaking related mid-decade research for coding and classifying detailed national origins and ethnic groups, and our consultations with external experts on the Asian community have also suggested Sikh receive a unique code classified under Asian. However, and are still considered the largest ethnic group due to a serious undercount following the 2000 census whereby many English and British Americans self-identified under the new category entry 'American' considering themselves 'indigenous' because their families had resided in the US for so long or, if of mixed European ancestry, identified with a more recent and differentiated ethnic group. However, each human is genetically the same as the person standing next to them.

Equibase

This use of race dates to the late 18th century, and was for many years applied in scientific fields such as , with race differentiation being based on such qualities as skin color, hair form, head shape, and particular sets of cranial dimensions.
