No more shall publick wealth on Spies be spent, To hunt the Loyall and the Innocent: 55: Nor Jaylors in contracted Prisons be The Keepers of the People's Libertie: Nor Chiefs in Civill Causes toyl, and doe The task of Judges and of Juries too; In whose High-Courts their Wills for Laws were known, 60: And all the Civill Pow'r was Martiall grown. Like those who dwell in full-resounding Caves, 185: Where Nile sends headlong down his rapid waves, Are deaf, because the Clamors constant are, The Water not out-thundered by the Air. These Pelagian Heresies were taught in the Church of God, but they were not the Doctrines of the Church, being condemned, rejected and refuted, as contrary to the Christian Verity, by many worthy members and guides of the Church: who as they never received these parts of false Doctrine: So likewise the Church wherein they lived, neither know, nor ap ...
