objections by an apology for the disadvantages of situation under which he laboured. There was fighting on the Bosphorus 1352 and off the coasts of 1353, where they were beaten; and then peace was restored, Venice having to abandon all her ports in the.

Distortion, divine providence and genre in Nicetas Choniates's account of the collapse of Byzantium 1180

The dynastic dispute was complicated, like all the disputes in Constantinople, by ecclesiastical interests, and the return of a patriarch who had been driven out was one of those picturesque scenes in which the people delighted, which showed their independence of the government, but revealed also, only too plainly, that there was now no union in Church or State. In northern Italy another race was tending eastward under a different impulse.

The Genoese carried on war of a piratical character, but the most sensational incident was the appearance of the ever fortunate admiral Giustiniani before their headquarters at Galata with an irresistible demand for complete restitution. Matthews was directed to deliver him the original, if he would undertake to present it.
