Gardner Press - [PDF] Separation

Margaret Mahler

In Object Relations, the main developmental task is differentiating between the self and others

The three main stages of development are:

1. Autistic stage: newborn – 1 month
2. Symbiotic stage: 1 – 5 months
3. Separation-Individuation stage: 5 – 24 months

"Object" refers not only to literal objects, but to other people

Theories of Development: Concepts and Applications: Concepts and Applications

The result of extensive scholarship and consultation with leading scholars, this text introduces students to twenty-four theorists and compares and contrasts their theories on how we develop as individuals. One can always activate it at times of separation anxiety.

Viewing the full text of this document requires a subscription to PEP Web. I question whether we encounter different patients today and suggest that we understand our patients better, thus making our analytic assessments and practices so different from 50 years ago.

[PDF] Separation

I wish to express my thanks to Margaret Mahler, M. As introduced by Margaret Mahler and John Bowlby, respectively, both theories were initially regarded as diverging from traditional views. Cue the early development of stranger anxiety.
