Writings by Alexander Hamilton

An excavation near Ashgabat, the capital of Turkmenistan, revealed an inscription on a piece of stone that seems to have been used as a stamp seal.

Writings by George Washington

Only people from certain backgrounds were allowed to train to become scribes, in the service of temple, pharaonic, and military authorities, resulting in only 1 percent of the population that could write. This was a critical, difficult time as it was necessary to establish the new government and the duties of the presidency on a firm footing. For example, the emergence of the and community-wide literacy councils aim to help students and community members sharpen their writing skills.
