Most Agencies Falling Short on Mandate for Online Records

The NRC oversees reactor safety and security, reactor licensing and renewal, radioactive material safety, and spent fuel management storage, security, recycling, and disposal. I have real trouble with the idea that somehow, there is no coordination going on here, and let me refer back to the Natural Resources Performance Management Forum.

Our Documents

Now, you were also asking the question about what can we potentially do to eliminate less-than-desirable functions or less-than-efficient functions within the department, and I believe we have to be very vigilant in looking for this at all points in time, but I must point out that it was only about 3 years ago that in the Department of Energy, we went through a very extensive bottoms-up strategic alignment process where we identified a considerable amount of actions, programs, and activities that we felt were either no longer appropriate or were significantly inefficient or were not sufficiently productive, and we changed things and eliminated quite a few things, and in that regard, I think we made some big steps forward in carrying out what is intended by the legislation, but I think there is always the opportunity to look harder and do the job better. But the general conclusions—I am not qualified to speak in detail about these studies, but the general conclusions that may be drawn from what they have released is that marine organisms are especially susceptible.

Section 26a Regulations

Winter drawdown elevation means the elevation to which a reservoir water level is lowered during fall to provide storage capacity for winter and spring floodwaters.

Our Documents

The Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 is designed to promote a practical opportunity for the Federal Government today to put its house in order.
