The 4th Battalion, 3rd Regiment, south of the river, crossed the river and assaulted the Thuong Tu Gate near the eastern corner of the Citadel.

Daily Press

Krohn had the courage to tell the story of mistakes made by top level military commanders and the heroic efforts of the soldiers put in a terrible position. In hindsight, it was anticipated that artillery could be thrown in to support us before we began our move toward Hue. The following night the battalion commander decided to make a run for it.

The Lost Battalion: Controversy and Casualties in the Battle of Hue by Charles Krohn, Hardcover

Company H attacked a nearby hill meeting a stubborn defense, losing one dead and killing six PAVN. The Cavalry force soon encountered two dug-in PAVN Battalions around the villages of Thon Que Chu and Thon La Chu which they were unable to overcome as fog prevented their usual gunship support. Army helicopter was shot down over the city; the crew sought refuge with a group of ARVN in a small compound.

The author, a retired Army LtCol, was the Bn. The entrapped men saw their fate: death or captivity.

The Lost Battalion of TET: Breakout of the 2/12 Cavalry at Hue by Charles A. Krohn

Krohn is a talented writer who had a central vantage point to a fiasco. From my experience in my year with the 1st Cav, the lessons from the supply and artillery coordination blunders were available to be learned all along, but certainly in the months leading up to TET.
