Treatise iv. On the Lord's Prayer.

Quran 24: 36-37 So when anyone from amongst you sets out from his house for the mosque he should say quietly to himself words of remembrance of Allah — words unconnected with the affairs and business of this world. The communion of Saints, I believe that the Church is the body of Christ, He is the head and we are the members.

A Treatise on Prayer

Further, if the in for us, the of the higher would be more efficacious; and so we ought not to implore the help of the lower ' but only of those of the higher. But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Treatise on Prayer (1553) by John Knox

Already, it must be said, the adverse inworking, with intent to wrap the most impious of opinions around the name of Christ and around the teaching of the Son of God, has made some converts on the needlessness of prayer—a sentiment which find champions in those who by every means do away with outward forms, eschewing baptism and eucharist alike, misrepresenting the Scriptures as not actually meaning this that we call prayer but as teaching something quite different from it.

In fact, it was the will of the benevolent and good God, in giving them the object of their lust, not to give it in such a way that any lust should be left in them

Treatise iv. On the Lord's Prayer.

But if you press on to the things in front and forget those behind and pray for me in my undertaking, I do not despair of being enabled to receive from God the Giver a fuller and more divine capacity for all these matters, and with it to discuss the same subject again in a nobler, loftier, and clearer way.

If, in the one case it is reasonable to prefer the East, why should the same not be done in every case? Whereby He wills, that we should choose for our prayers such places as might offer least occasion to call us back from prayer, and also, that we should expel forth of our minds in time of our prayer, all vain cogitations; for otherwise, Jesus Christ himself doth observe no special place of prayer; for we find him sometimes praying in Mount Olivet, sometimes in the desert, sometimes in the temple, and in the garden. The treatise was written for the people of a community with whom Imam Ahmad had prayed a number of times.

Treatise on Prayer and Meditation

Remembering what as debtors we have not paid but withheld during the time which it was our duty to have done this or that for our neighbor had run by, we shall be gentler toward those who have fallen in debt to us in turn and have not paid their indebtedness, especially if we do not forget our transgressions against the Divine and the unrighteousness we have spoken against the Height either in ignorance of the truth or else in displeasure at the misfortunes that have befallen us. He died in Baghdad in 855 C.

Work info: How To Pray

Assuming that the Savior does not command us to pray for the impossible, it appears to me to deserve consideration in what sense we are bidden to pray not to enter into temptation when all human life on earth is a test.
