Entitled Vanitas: Meditations on Life and Death in Contemporary Art, this exhibition was on display at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts from April 4-June 28, 2000 and featured the work of 14 artists. The book focuses on contemporary sculpture and installation art using non-traditional forms, materials, and processes. The Vanitas theme is a meditation on the futility of life and the omnipresence of death, but the typically grim mood found in such paintings has no appeal for me.

Focusing on sculpture and installation art, the exhibition features works that use unconventional forms, materials and processes. At the same time, it presents these artists in their 20th-century context while exploring the related themes of beauty and death, pleasure and fear, love and loss.

The artists included--from Warsaw, Paris, New York, London, Sao Paulo--are Mirosław Balka, Chris Boltanski, Willie Cole, Leonardo Drew, Tony Feher, Robert Gober, Felix Gonzalez, Mona Hatoum, Jim Hodges, Anish Kapoor, Jac Lainer, Zoe Leonard, Gabriel Orozco, Rachel Whiteread, and Yukinori Yanagi. It has long been the inspiration for some of Western culture's most significant works of art and literature, especially 17th-century Dutch still lifes with their abundant flowers, overripe fruits, snuffed candles, skulls and timepieces.
