Report on B.C. gas a 'painful portrait' with no close look at taxes' role

Global News Like many cities around the world on April 20 each year Vancouver is host to a lively pro-marijuana rally. But the original moratorium did, Anderson maintains. In 1972, vagrancy laws directed at prostitution were changed to focus on solicitation, and the new law applied equally to men and women, though, in practice, women remained the primary target for arrest.

The Gastown Smoke In Things started off peacefully enough with a watermelon-sized mock joint being passed around the 1,200 strong crowd. Vancouver police are investigating the first of 2021. As well, the rise of plant-based alternatives will provide Canadians with choice in how they get their protein.
