Stavros G Lazarides, First Edition

We try to note any significant flaws in the description, but less noticeable or common characteristics may not be mentioned. Description: Striking and highly decorative panoramic view of the interior the Cave of the Apocalypse. However, with whatever flaws it possesses, it remains entirely worthy of ownership and inclusion in any related collection.

Now we are at the «core» of the collection: three costumes from «Mother Courage and Her Children» — a play by Bertolt Brech, which has been recognized as the epitome of the epic theater movement. Workers in metal since 1784. The costumes appear to age in front of the viewer — a symbol of time and the challenges encountered by the characters in the play.
