Background: Scope of professional practice frameworks offers a system of rules and principles to regulate its members and demonstrate its responsibility to society. Key issues in reviewing the scope of practice include notions of specialist and advanced practice, accountability, autonomy, competence, supervision, continuing professional development and delegation.

NMBI

Background The Nursing and Midwifery Directorate at SNSWLHD participated in a number of incident management reviews in 2014, which highlighted a lack of systems and governance in the professional development of nursing and midwifery staff. Subsequent root cause analysis and clinical reviews identified that staff lacked a number of skills required in their role and did not understand the professional responsibilities associated with supervision of and delegation to other staff.
