The Responsibility to Protect

Two years ago this month, the Security Council passed condemning armed attacks on healthcare. Anyone interested in international affairs should read this book on what is certain to be a continuing debate.

Responsibility to protect

However, at the , where the largest number of heads of state and government in the history of the UN convened, the R2P was unanimously adopted.

The Responsibility to Protect: Ending Mass Atrocity Crimes Once and For All

When successful at averting mass atrocities, the intervenors will often be forced to take upon themselves more expansive mandates to ensure that threatened populations will be safe after the intervenors leave. The use of force may only be carried out as a measure of last resort, when all other non-coercive measures have failed, and only when it is authorized by the UN Security Council. State sovereignty implies responsibility, not a license to kill.
