Dnepropetrovsk maniacs

The authorities in Ukraine strongly denied that a fourth person was involved in the killings who could still be at large and said that rumors of similar crimes taking place since the arrest of the three suspects were unfounded. The documentary also showed a video recording of Sayenko's confession, in which he admits that robbery was a motive for some of the killings.

Dnepropetrovsk (1974 edition)

It was titled Los maniacos del martillo The Hammer Maniacs and ran for 1 hour and 25 minutes as part of the investigative series Aquí en Vivo Here, Live. The defense objected to the presentation, claiming that the evidence was obtained illegally and that the subjects shown in the video and the photographs were digitally altered to resemble the suspects.
