The migration of the holdings of alternate-format libraries from AMICUS to OCLC was completed in the fall of 2018; these holdings are now viewable in Voilà. Voilà is made up of bibliographic descriptions and location information for published materials held at libraries across Canada, including LAC.

Questions and answers for Canadian libraries about Voilà and Aurora

April 2, 2019 LAC is now accepting requests to its LOI program using OCLC's WorldShare Interlibrary Loan. April 2, 2019 Will not be replaced.

Libraries must have a subscription to OCLC cataloguing services to access the MARC view. Contact us or join our mailing list For questions, or to be added to our mailing list for updates on the transition, please contact. At that point, libraries will need to use another approach to submit ILL requests for holdings in Canada's National Union Catalogue, Voilà.

Libraries must have a subscription to OCLC cataloguing services to access the MARC view. Database subscriptions should be counted, but you do not have to count the individual titles included in each database. The mechanisms for delivering these loans has changed with the replacement of AMICUS by Aurora.
