Teaching and learning in a multilingual Europe: findings from a cross

The main function of the lycée is to prepare pupils to sit the or bac exam, the equivalent of British A levels. The questionnaire was refined following three consecutive focus group meetings with the COST steering group and a review of EU documents and current recommendations by governments to teach pupils in multilingual settings.

Transfer and transition in English schools: reviewing the evidence

First, we used a cut-off of. Fifty-six teachers reported why and how they regulate emotions while in the classroom. Much of this research, however, has focused on the social adjustment of pupils to the change of school, rather than the impact of the school change on academic performance.
