SOS

FBCA code of practice - Issued October 2014. If a coffin is encased, the cover and the coffin must bear adequate identity of the deceased person. As one of the means of achieving good combustion, all new cremators should be designed so that there is adequate secondary air in the primary combustion zone to ensure good turbulence.

SOS

Candidates are now required to carry out baby, infant and fetus cremations.

When is guidance 'statutory' and does it matter?

As we weigh up the merit of what is being thrown at us, and decide whether to consign it to the bin, or to pin it to the notice board with fairy lights around it, we will make some important discoveries about non-statutory guidance.

Code of Cremation Practice

Some of it is driven by a political agenda, whether of politicians or campaigning groups. The draft Regulations issued in November 1990 contained the definition of processes under this heading which is set out in. Compliance with this requirement should be demonstrated on a weekly basis.

Pa Department of State

It addresses how national and local policy is formulated, examined and challenged.

When is guidance 'statutory' and does it matter?

All cremators should be designed to ensure complete combustion and should be fitted with a secondary combustion zone. Any other use of the material requires the formal permission of the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office.
