Wartime and post

While Nichtenhauser and others praised the turn toward the visual, the new public health films of the 1940s used sound as much as cinematography, and were as much influenced by radio and Madison Avenue, as by Hollywood. The number of these centers rose from eight at the end of World War II to 3,840 in 1960. The prewar survey also showed 59% of Americans favoring military action; now, 74% believe it was right to go to war.

Records of U.S. Occupation Headquarters, World War II

Of the 21 publics polled, Canada and the United States have reported the highest number of cases of the disease. The WPA avoided cost-saving technologies and machinery in order to hire more workers. Related Records: See Related Records under 260.

The Post

People in most predominantly Muslim countries remain overwhelmingly opposed to the U. Each arrived at the conference with their own agenda, with Roosevelt seeking Soviet aid against Japan, Churchill demanding free elections in Eastern Europe, and Stalin desiring to create a Soviet sphere of influence.

Postwar Public Works: CQR

It conducts public opinion polling, demographic research, media content analysis and other empirical social science research. In the light of architecture's recent and promising shift towards re-use, it is worth examining different aspects of refurbishing existing housing blocks, improving the user's experience, conquering the shortcomings of the original design and extending the life of these buildings. Federal Project Number One In addition to its well-known building and infrastructure projects, the WPA also oversaw a group of programs collectively known as Federal Project Number One.
