The Impact of Modern Medicine on Human Evolution

The only real difference between Hitler and Augustus is that Augustus had won. After a decade of protests, riots and clashes, French West Africa voted for autonomy in a 1958 referendum, dividing into the states of today; most of the British colonies gained autonomy the following decade. The American Journal of Human Genetics.

It allowed sounds to be represented which in itself was an unprecedented miracle but also syllables, syntax and sentence structure. However, eugenics concerns are not sustainable, since there is no reason to think that natural selection might be eliminated among humans because of medicine. This is remarkable since hundreds of thousands of people had been crucified in the century of Jesus and crosses were recycled until they fell apart.
