JAI has been attacked, tomorrow it could be the JIL Liberal Islam Network , and then the day after tomorrow the JIMM Muhammadiyah Youth Intellectual Network or UIN State Islamic University Syarif Hidayatullah Jakarta. However, if we continuously receive the ideology of hatred, small or only superficial incidents around us could also give rise to more vandals and terrorists. Moreover, of course, sharia law, a system supported by the Bali Three, supports the death penalty.

Conservatism and Radicalism in Islam: February 2010

For some Muslim apologists, as mentioned by Khaled Abou el Fadl 2003 , the easiest rhetorical answers for these questions are the following: It is unfair to intermingle Islam with the deeds of its adherence. I would suggest that it ill befits critics of fundamentalist Islam to advocate a central tenet of its ideology. Advocates of the death penalty claim it acts as a deterrent, a fact that isn't borne out by the statistics.
