University of Utah, Salt Lake City. Once these orders were issued, the Border Defense Command continued, it would be necessary to formulate a response to the communication from the Qing Board of Rites.

Vol. 23, No. 4, Aug., 1964 of The Journal of Asian Studies on JSTOR

It is interesting to note that this is a letter purportedly written by a twelve-year-old king for the perusal of an eight-year-old emperor. This was the very order that had just been received in Hansōng. Although Chosōn was fearful and devoted in the previous section, Yi reiterated the Chosōn connection with the sagely statecraft of Kija.

In the final couplet of this section, however, Yi resumes his identification of Chosōn with Kija and his sagely teachings.

ハリー・ハルトゥーニアン

Yi here uses this allusion to indicate that Kija was in possession of royal qualities as set out by Confucius. He was concerned that transport was only going to get more difficult as the water levels receded with the season. Yet the military governor made his proposal and we have met with this enactment of compassion.

This ended up being a pretext for a Qi invasion of Chu territory. The Yamen further instructed the Board of Rites that once Chosōn had received the final timber installment the Qing throne and the military governor of Jilin should be informed and then the case closed. Yet the interactions between the Chosōn and Qing courts and the acts of submission and benevolence included therein were not limited to Chosōn tribute, Qing gifts, and the trade at the frontier marts and along the route to Beijing.
