5 Best Inflatable Life Jackets

If it is not going to be worn all the time then a regular non-inflatable life jacket should also be on the boat for each person. Inflatable life jackets are available across a variety of USCG-approved types and are a perfect choice for calm water or near-shore activities.

The buoyancy for these types of life jackets varies anywhere from 15 to 35 pounds. This works by blowing into the tube with your mouth.

Automatic Life Vests

5 Best Inflatable Life Jackets

Look at the red and green indicators on the vest to find out if the vest is ready to be deployed.

Automatic Life Vests

Make sure to have the proper replacement cartridge for the vest before starting. Next, the CO2 tank needs to be removed. Inflatables are also not recommended for non-swimmers or kids under the age of 16.

5 Best Inflatable Life Jackets

There is a crotch strap that provides the necessary safety when wearing the jacket in the water.
