QUALITY OF LIFE SCALE
(The HRQOL Scale)

WHEN SHOULD I PUT MY DOG DOWN?

The QOL scale created by Dr. Alice Vilimova will help you compare several aspects of your pet's quality of life and choose ways to improve your pet's care if needed. A score of 10 is considered acceptable life quality for a companion dog.

QOL Factor Score 0-10 Description

HURT
Are your dog's joints or muscles causing him/her discomfort or pain?
Is your dog having trouble getting up or down?
Can your dog stand on all four legs without difficulty?
Is your dog able to walk without limping?

HUNGER
Is your dog less interested in eating than usual?
Are your dog's ears often dirty or crusty?
Is your dog drinking more (25 ml per pound per day)?
Has your dog lost his/her appetite?

HYDRATION
Is your dog's urine darker or more concentrated than normal?
Is your dog drinking enough (25 ml per pound per day)?
Has your dog's mouth become dry?

HYGIENE
Are you able to perform proper grooming for your pet? (brushing, cleaning after walks, etc.)
Is your pet's coat shiny and healthy?
Is your pet's skin and coat free of parasites?

HAPPINESS
Does your dog enjoy playing with you?
Is your pet responsive to family members?
Is your pet responsive to other dogs?
Is your pet responsive to other animals?
Does your pet respond to commands?

MOBILITY
Does your dog feel like going for a walk? Is your dog having seizures or stumbling?
Can your provider administer help (e.g., a cast or splint)?
Does your dog have difficulty getting up or down?
Does your dog have difficulty walking or running?

MORE GOOD DAYS THAN BAD
Are there more "bad" days where your pet seems to be "off" than "good" days?
Does your dog have trouble sleeping?
When does your dog feel better?
What can you do to make your dog feel better?

TOTAL
"A score over 10 would represent acceptable life quality for a companion dog. A score of 10 is perfect score."

Often, focusing on one aspect of your quality of life and improving it can then improve your quality of life overall. Quality of Life QoL is a term that often means different things to different people.

Trek: The Next The Quality of Life (TV Episode 1992)

The Army directly supports the Defense Health Agency by maintaining control of Army military treatment facilities. Army Medicine provides the Army the agility and flexibility necessary to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic by offering guidance and oversight as DHA continues to establish its capabilities and organizational structure. I would definitely recommend this movie to anyone interested in hip hop culture.

This ensures that the most relevant areas of functioning are measured in a cognitively appropriate manner for a particular age group. HRQoL feedback can be used by providers to inform their treatment decisions and ensure that they are patient-centered, considering the individual's perceptions of their treatments, how they affect daily functioning, and their priorities. Individuals with limited skills and competences are usually excluded from a wide range of jobs and sometimes even miss out on opportunities to achieve valued goals within society.

If GDP were the only indicator of quality of life, this would mean that the population of this country would have greatly improved its well-being. Being able to plan ahead and overcome any sudden deterioration in their economic and wider environment has an impact on their quality of life. It should also be stressed that some of the indicators included in this scoreboard are subjective.
