What Is Women's Empowerment?

The Soviets brought considerable damage to infrastructure and forced millions to flee their homes and seek refuge in Pakistan and Iran. Notes and Abstracts in American and International Education, 111 , 5+.

Promoting gender equality in schools

This process has been guided by our extensive network of in-country advisors who are grounded in the local context and come from the movements we support. In 1989, the Soviets withdrew from Afghanistan after which the communist regime was left in a weak state, allowing madrassah-educated Pashtun fundamentalists known as the Taliban to rise to power.

Promoting gender equality in schools

Until these are taken on board, with women empowered to play a full part in decision-making at all levels, environmental sustainability will remain a distant goal. Findings In order to successfully test whether foreign involvement in Afghanistan has had a positive impact on the gross enrollment ratio of females enrolled in primary and secondary school, I had to separate my research into two time frames: pre-Taliban and post-Taliban.
