Hollywood, Dania Beach brace for redevelopment boom

American counterculture inspired Hollywood to take greater risks with new alternative filmmakers. The fallout is challenging Hollywood to face its culture of silence in the face of abuse and enact meaningful change.

Movies in Development

Other phases are planned for the complex, with a total build-out for the project reaching more than 13 million total square feet on the 298-acre parcel of Hollywood Park that Kroenke acquired starting in 2014.

Hollywood Young Circle getting $500 million in projects

Even in the depths of the Great Depression, movies were a weekly escape for many people who loved trading their struggles for a fictional, often dazzling world, if only for a couple of hours. There was a lot of neighborhood pushback against the plan, and the opponents of the large-scale project gained real traction when they said that a corner of the site, which is located at 1720 North Vine Street, was on top of an earthquake fault. The information we collect will vary depending on how you use this website.
