It is this that will give strength to their testimony when they are called upon to give an account of the hope that is within them.

Evangelization and Interreligious Dialogue

It is the Spirit who is guiding the evangelizing mission of the church. When Christians find themselves in communities with neighbours of other living faiths they may have common or diverse ideological convictions. It is necessary to be careful here.

Church in Dialogue: Culture and Transitions : Buckley, Francis J.: public-docs.talentcoach.ir.au: Books

At this point in history two main trends are the focus of the ecumenical movement, globalisation and pluralism, which are decisive elements influencing societies and all areas of education all over the world. IV A proposed way forward We see the need for more reflection on a theology of religions, and a way to participate in the development of a Christian theology of RE.
