

Economic development in a globalized environment - East Asian evidences

Kluwer Academic Publishers - UNU

Description: -

East Asia -- Foreign economic relations -- Case studies.
 East Asia -- Economic conditions -- Case studies.
 Economic development -- Case studies.
 Globalization -- Economic aspects -- East Asia -- Case studies.
 Economic development in a globalized environment - East Asian evidences

-Economic development in a globalized environment - East Asian evidences

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 361-372) and indexes.
 This edition was published in 2004

Filesize: 12.1010 MB

Tags: #The #Challenge #of #Agricultural #Pollution #: #Evidence #from #China, #Vietnam, #and #the #Philippines

UNU

All readings are provided in English translation. Furthermore, the study examined the effect of complementary policies on the growth effect of globalization.

Asia

Kim, Jong-Il, and Lawrence J. Finding, for example, that economies with high growth rates during the 1960-90 period had very high investment rates or a significant export orientation around 1960 would go a long way toward solving the problem of reverse causality. Indeed, the fact remains that some countries, such as South Korea and China, have achieved rapid urbanization and dramatic economic growth at the same time, creating a global miracle.

Asia's Dynamic Economies Continue to Lead Global Growth

Copyright 2004 Publisher Springer US Copyright Holder Kluwer Academic Publishers eBook ISBN 978-1-4419-8941-3 DOI 10. While this book includes no simple formula on how to make globalization work, Stiglitz provides a reform agenda that will provoke debate for years to come. The policy implication of this view is obvious.

Is globalization an engine of economic development?

If trade was interrupted, it was most often because of blockades by local enemies of Rome or China.

A brief history of globalization

In fact, averaging out data removes useful variation from the data, which could help to identify the parameters of interest with more precision. Unlike the East Asian countries, India's growth spurt is not associated with exceptionally high domestic savings or foreign capital inflows or manufacturing exports.

The Challenge of Agricultural Pollution : Evidence from China, Vietnam, and the Philippines

License: All the material produced by Our World in Data, including interactive visualizations and code, are completely open access under the.

Related Books

- Pisanello - la princesse au brin de genévrier
- Alive with nitrogen
- Timur Tengah, sejarah dan politik
- Short history
- Irrigation and soil-moisture investigations in western Oregon