NET that makes it the ideal managed framework to develop applications on the Windows platform. Those commands are called APDU commands, and are described in the specification of the Smart Card you want to access. For more than 20 years I have always worked in technical positions as I simply like to get my hands dirty and crack my brain when things don't go right! Next steps Congratulations on completing this tutorial! After 12 years in the smart card industry I can claim a strong knowledge in security solutions based on those really small computers! NET Framework has been introduced in 2002, and the version 3.
